MATCH PREVIEW

Things are beginning to heat up in the NWSL playoff race. With just seven matches left, every point from here on bears significance.

That reality comes into sharp focus as Racing Louisville FC kicks off its final west coast swing of the campaign against the team just ahead of it in the standings — Seattle Reign FC — at 8 p.m. Sunday at Lumen Field.

Preview continued ...

Seattle, currently in seventh position, has totaled the same number of wins as Louisville (7) through 19 games, but its one extra draw sees it hold a one-point edge over the visitors heading into the weekend.

A win would vault Racing above the Reign, or even higher depending on the Orlando Pride or Gotham FC results.

Louisville (7-7-5, 26 points) saw its four-match unbeaten run come to a close last week at Lynn Family Stadium, as a late own goal gave the Portland Thorns the 2-1 win. It was the fourth instance in the previous five contests that Louisville has conceded a goal in the 90th minute or later. Over the course of the season, 30% of the goals Racing has conceded this season have been in the final 20 minutes of matches.

Bev Yanez's team met Seattle for the first time in 2025 back on May 16. A first-half strike by rookie Madeline Dahlien was all the Reign needed to take all three points back to Washington state.

The history between the two has been defined by draws, with six of the 10 meetings across all competitions ending all square. With playoff positioning on the line, a draw would likely leave both teams feeling like they missed an opportunity.

Louisville's only win over the Reign wasn't even in league play, as it came in the 2023 NWSL Challenge Cup semifinals. Though, that match did occur at Sunday's venue: Lumen Field.

Seattle (7-6-6, 27 points), led by veteran head coach Laura Harvey, returns to its home Sunday following a visit to the nation's capital, where it fell by a 2-0 score to the Washington Spirit. The defeat extended Seattle's winless stretch to five games, dating back to Aug. 10. The club's most recent win came over a month ago against Angel City FC on Aug. 1.

Adding on, Sunday's hosts own the league's second-worst goal differential (-4) since the beginning of August. After tallying 15 goals across six games from the start of June to Aug. 18, Harvey's team has scored just one goal in its last 270 league minutes.

Story lines...

Okayyy O'Kane: Katie O'Kane hadn't been in the starting XI since Aug. 1 before last week. In the absence of Taylor Flint, the University of Utah product seamlessly stepped in. O'Kane, who first joined Racing as a non-roster invitee before inking a contract, scored Louisville's lone goal against Portland in the 22nd minute — the first of her professional career. In the 23-year-old's 10th start of 2025, the club's third rookie to reach that total, she also finished tied for the team lead in chances created (3), alongside Savannah DeMelo.

Bloomer says no ... again: Penalty kicks typically favor the kicker — unless Jordyn Bloomer is standing between the posts. The shot-stopper saved yet another penalty against the Thorns, her third of the campaign. That's the most in the NWSL this year and just one away from tying the single-season record held by Houston Dash keeper Jane Campbell.

The Bev connection: A visit to the Emerald City means Louisville head coach Bev Yanez is set to return to the place where she spent six seasons during her playing career. Laura Harvey, her former head coach, will also be her counterpart on the Seattle sideline Sunday. Yanez played under Harvey, a three-time NWSL Coach of the Year, at the Reign from 2014-2019, where she helped the club to two NWSL Shields (2014, 2015).

That elusive final action: Racing's meeting with Portland was one of those frustrating affairs where dominance doesn't translate to goals. Racing accumulated 24 total shots, with just six on target. The sheer volume, however, produced a 2.83 expected goals tally — their second-highest mark of the season. Defender Courtney Petersen kept it simple after the match: "We were really threatening. We just have to put the ball in the back of the net."

Want it? You can have it: Sunday's game features two teams in the NWSL's bottom three in terms of average possession per game. Louisville controls roughly 42% of the ball each time out — the lowest in the league — while Seattle ranks third from the bottom at just over 45% on average. This season has, in fact, seen the Reign accumulate its lowest possession share since Opta began recording the statistic in 2017.

Not too bad for 19: At the young age of 19, Seattle forward Emeri Adames is already making a name for herself at the professional level. In total, 12 teenagers have found the back of the net in 2025. None have been more clinical than Adames, who has six goals in 16 matches (nine starts). Predominantly a left winger, Adames has shown the ability in her second year with the Reign to flex into multiple attacking positions. She'd stand alone as the new single-season record holder for goals by a teenager with her next finish.

ABOUT THE CLUB

Since starting play in 2021, Racing Louisville FC has blazed a trail as its city's only top-tier professional sports team.

Named as an ode to Louisville's Churchill Downs and the Kentucky Derby, Racing competes in the National Women's Soccer League, the world's premier women's professional soccer league. NWSL stars regularly take part in the FIFA World Cup and the Olympics, among other notable international competitions.

Racing Louisville plays in the largest soccer-specific stadium in the state — 15,304-capacity Lynn Family Stadium in Louisville's Butchertown neighborhood just east of downtown. The stadium also houses Racing's brother club, Louisville City FC of the USL Championship.

In 2021, Racing won the inaugural Women's Cup at Lynn Family Stadium, defeating German power Bayern Munich in a penalty kick shootout. In 2023, the team finished runner-up in the UKG NWSL Challenge Cup, marking the club's first appearance in an NWSL final.

Racing's roster features multiple senior internationals, including U.S. Women's National Team members Savannah DeMelo, Taylor Flint and Emma Sears, as well as Angela Barón of Colombia, Ary Borges of Brazil, Uchenna Kanu of Nigeria and Janine Sonis of Canada.

Both LouCity and Racing maintain daily operations from the Lynn Family Sports Vision & Training Center, located at Champions Park about two miles east of the stadium. The facility also houses the LouCity & Racing Academy and the LouCity & Racing Foundation, the organization's charitable arm.

John Neace heads a local ownership group as chairman of Soccer Holdings, LLC — the parent company of Louisville City FC and Racing Louisville FC. Former LouCity coach James O'Connor serves as the organization's president.

Bev Yanez HEAD COACH

Beverly "Bev" Goebel Yanez returns for a second season as the head coach of Racing Louisville FC in 2025. Racing Louisville appointed Yanez as the club's third permanent head coach in November 2023, and she led the team to a ninth-place finish in the National Women's Soccer League during the 2024 season.

In Yanez's first season at the helm, Racing narrowly missed out on the club's first-ever NWSL playoff berth. Still, the season was not without success — Yanez led Racing to its most wins in a single season (7), its highest-scoring regular season (33 goals) and its most-ever points in the standings (28).

Additionally, Yanez led the development a new generation of Racing stars, notably Emma Sears. The former Ohio State forward was the final selection of the second round of the 2024 NWSL draft but emerged as a rookie talent in 2024, earning multiple calls up to the U.S. Women's National Team by season's end.

Following Yanez's 10-year professional career, the 36-year-old spent three years in the NWSL as an assistant coach before becoming taking charge of Racing. She spent two seasons with NJ/NY Gotham FC, where she helped lead a run to the 2021 Challenge Cup final and the 2021 NWSL Playoffs. Yanez then moved to Louisville, where she helped Racing reach the 2023 UGG NWSL Challenge Cup final — the club's first appearance in an NWSL final.

A University of Miami alum, Yanez's playing career had a notable spell with NWSL club Reign FC. She won two NWSL Shields, helped Reign to two NWSL finals, was a Best XI selection and a finalist for the league MVP award in 2015 during her time in Seattle. Over six seasons with Reign, she appeared in 123 games, tallying 24 goals and nine assists.

Yanez's playing career included stops in Australia, Finland and Japan — where she won the league's golden boot in 2013 — and included several championships. She won the 2011 Women's Professional Soccer League title with the Western New York Flash; the 2011 Finnish Naisten Liiga crown with PK-35; back-to-back Japanese Nadeshiko League championships with INAC Kobe; and the 2017 Australian W-League crown with Melbourne City.

Mitch Sowerby ASSISTANT COACH

Sowerby moved to Racing ahead of the 2024 season after posting a 46-23-11 mark in four years as a collegiate head coach. At Oklahoma Christian, Sowerby's team posted a 10-win turnaround between his first and second seasons, earning a spot in the Division II Lone Star Conference championship in 2022.

He comes to Racing with experience across multiple levels of the sport. In addition to his college coaching work, he served as the academy director at Edmond Soccer Club in the greater Oklahoma City area. He was the camp director for Nike Soccer Camps in Oklahoma City.

He was an assistant coach for three years at his alma mater, Division II program Rogers State University, following his collegiate career. As a player, Sowerby was a three-time all-conference player who registered more minutes than any other non-goalskeeper in

Sergio Gonzalez GOALKEEPERS COACH

Gonzalez joined Racing in 2021 after a stint as Indiana University's women's associate head coach. He boasts more than two decades of coaching experience, including additional collegiate stops at Dayton, Slippery Rock, NJIT and Ohio State. Internationally, he has also coached goalkeepers for the U-16 and U-17 national teams.

In his time at Racing, Gonzalez has developed the club into one of the top goalkeeper development programs in the NWSL. He coached Michelle Betos, the club's first No. 1, to a standout year, with the veteran goalkeeper finishing second in the league in saves, with 95. Gonzalez has worked closely with star Racing goalkeeper Katie Lund since the club's inception and Lund's selection in the 2020 NWSL Expansion Draft. In two-plus years as Racing's starter, Lund has been among the league's top goalies, with 12 clean sheets and 214 saves. She was named to the 2023 UGG NWSL Challenge Cup All-Tournament Team.

Charlie Tuley VIDEO ANALYST

Tuley, who has bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Michigan, joined Racing during the 2024 season. He previously worked 14 months as a data and recruitment analyst for the MLS club San Jose Earthquakes and spent time as a data manager for Verified Athletics, a collegiate recruiting database.
