The bobblehead features Fishlock sporting Reign FC's 2026 third jersey, "The Surge Kit," with her iconic No. 10 on the back, the only player in club history to wear the number. She is posed in her signature goal celebration with her arms outstretched and the captain's armband proudly displayed. A dragon stands alongside her as a nod to her "Tiny Welsh Dragon" nickname while also recognizing her legendary international career with Cymru.

Fishlock announced her retirement on April 21 after spending her entire 14-year NWSL career with Seattle. The second annual Queen's Match will celebrate her legendary career and lasting impact on the club ahead of her final regular season home match at Lumen Field on Sunday, November 1 against the Orlando Pride.

One of the most decorated players in NWSL history, Fishlock began her career during the league's inaugural season in 2013. She has made 225 regular season appearances, ranking second in club history and third in league history, while her 17,905 regular season minutes rank second in Reign FC history and fifth in NWSL history.

Fishlock is the club's all-time leader with 80 regular season goal contributions, recording 50 goals and 30 assists. Her 50 goals rank second in club history and 10th in league history, while her 30 assists are the most in Reign FC history and fifth-most in league history. Last season, the 39-year-old scored six goals to finish tied for the team lead, earning Reign FC Golden Boot honors. She is also one of four players in league history to reach 100 regular season wins.

Across her career, Fishlock has helped Seattle capture three NWSL Shields (2014, 2015, 2022) and advance to three NWSL Championship matches (2014, 2015, 2023). She earned NWSL MVP honors in 2021 and has been named to the NWSL Best XI seven times, the most in club history and second-most in league history.

Fishlock retired from international football in 2025 as the most decorated player in Welsh history. She concluded her international career as Wales' all-time leader in caps (166) and goals (48) across both the women's and men's programs while becoming the first Welsh player to reach 100 caps in 2017. A captain since 2012, she led Cymru to its first major tournament appearance at UEFA Women's EURO 2025 and scored the nation's first goal in the competition.

Fans can purchase the Jess Fishlock Bobble Bundle, which includes one limited-edition bobblehead and a ticket to the second annual Queen's Match at Lumen Field on Friday, October 2 (7:00 p.m. PT / NWSL+), through this link here. Additional ticket options for the club's remaining home matches this season are available at ReignFC.com/Tickets.
